

"Lost Relatives"

To the Editor:

I am trying to locate any relatives of James Brady (contractor) and Nora Toohey Brady, both deceased – my father's parents. There was a family of seven children. My father is William A. Brady. He left St. Louis as a boy and made his way to Philadelphia during World War I and lost contact with his family.

The boys, believed dead, are Leo, James, Francis and William. The girls are Nora, Regina and Loretta.

Little by Little

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Little by little we build our lives.

Little by little mold our minds.

Little by little the spirit
thrives.

Little by little its depth it finds.

Out of each thought or word
or deed.

Something is taken and stored away.

Seed of the rose or the killing weed

That shall live and flourish
and bloom some day.

Nothing that ever we say or do

But must leave its mark on the soul inside.

Where again, some day, it shall come to view.

And never a weed shall the roses hide.

Little by little we build our lives.

With a little bad and a little good.

And what if the worst of ourselves survives?

If we've kept the faith we'll be understood.
